

People differ in the extents to which they feel